

THE NEW SCHOOL FOR HUMOR

A PAGE

File Edit View History Bookmarks Window Help

Friendster - Plato

http://www.friendster.com/user.php?uid=22055805

Google

www.google.com HelpStar Hotmail

friendster

My Messages | My Settings | Chat | Help | Log Out

featured sponsor: Make Love. Happen

Users Go

SHARE FILES

INVITE FRIENDS

Plato

Male, 2,432, Single

Profile Viewed: 421,567,932 times since 394 bce

Interested in Meeting People for: Dating Men(?)
Friends, Dialogue partners

Location: Athens, Greece (Ancient, baby, Ancient!)

Friendster Member Since: Oct 394 bce

- edit profile
- create blog
- edit photos
- edit friends

Buddy List

- Plato Available
- Phaedrus
- Ion
- Aristotle
- Protagoras
- Alcibiades
- Appolodoros
- Callias
- Socrates
- Pausanias
- Prodicus
- Eryximachus

this is a REALLY old pic I SWEAT
I totally got my hair cut LOL!!!

College/University:
THE Academy (all the rest are just im

Occupation:
Freelance philosopher, teacher, gad

Hobbies and Interests: Long conversations, the nature of the ideal forms, hanging out, drinking.

About Me: I def "keep it real" but my v different from what you might expect

Who I Want to Meet: People with ridicu me to tear apart in my dialogues. Adu

Ion (of Ephesus!)
Plato is SUPER-SMA
he's a lot nicer than S just cuz I'm a simple down a totally FMBA (I can't believe I really

Instant Messages with Phaedrus

LOL!!! and can we suppose that the person who possesses true knowledge of the just and good and honorable has less understanding than the farmer about his own seeds?

certainly... NOT!!!

then he will not when being serious want 2 write his thoughts in water (not even in the black water called ink), sowing words which can neither speak 4 themselves nor teach the truth adequately to others?

IMHO that is not likely!!!

no, it is not - in the garden of letter he will sow and plant, but only 4 the sake of recreation and amusement, he will write them down as memorials 2 be treasured against the forgetfulness of old age, by himself, or by any other man who is treading the same path.

LOL!!!!!!!