

/

Robot in Saskatchewan

Jeremy Schmall

Early October and already a sharp Northerly
wind howls through town:
rummaging, acute.

The sun sits low
in the cloud-battered sky
this morning; the cattle shiver in an anxious huddle; the harvested wheat fields lay muddy and barren.
It's not enough to live forever.

/